Jennifer J. Lehr's Love's Cauldron: Reclaim Your Wild Feminine Named Finalist in Two Categories at the 2026 International Book Awards

Orcas Island, WA — Jennifer J. Lehr's book Love's Cauldron: Reclaim Your Wild Feminine, Book 1: Deliverance has been named a Finalist in two categories at the 2026 International Book Awards™ presented by American Book Fest.

Love's Cauldron was recognized as a Finalist in both:

- Nonfiction: Cross-Genre
- Spirituality: Inspirational

The International Book Awards is one of the world's largest international book award programs, recognizing excellence in mainstream, independent, and self-published publishing. According to American Book Fest, thousands of entries from authors and publishers around the world were submitted for the 2026 competition, with winners and finalists selected across more than 100 categories.

Love's Cauldron explores healing, trauma, intuition, the divine feminine, and the reclaiming of the witch archetype through memoir, psychology, spirituality, and personal transformation. Drawing on more than two decades as a licensed marriage and family therapist, Lehr combines therapeutic insight with mythic and spiritual themes to examine what it means to reconnect with intuition, emotional truth, embodiment, and feminine power.

"I wrote Love's Cauldron as both a personal healing journey and an exploration of the deeper forces that shape women's lives, relationships, spirituality, and identity," said Lehr. "Being recognized in two categories by the International Book Awards is meaningful because it reflects both the book's spiritual themes and its blending of memoir, narrative non-fiction and poetry.

The recognition adds to numerous honors received by Love's Cauldron, including awards from the Nautilus Book Awards, Firebird Book Awards, and the Eric Hoffer Book Awards.

Jennifer J. Lehr is a depth therapist, writer, and educator whose work focuses on emotional healing, spirituality, archetypal psychology, trauma recovery, and the reclaiming of the feminine. She is also the author of Love's Cauldron: Reclaim Your Wild Feminine, Book 2: Savior, and The Magic Cake: The Seven Ingredients of a Relationship-Ready Person.
