LOVE'S CAULDRON: RECLAIM YOUR WILD FEMININE RECEIVES LITERARY TITAN GOLD BOOK AWARD

Orcas Island, WA — December 2025 — Jennifer J. Lehr's award-winning memoir, Love's Cauldron: Reclaim Your Wild Feminine – Book 1: Deliverance, has been honored with the Literary Titan Gold Book Award, a distinction recognizing books that demonstrate excellence in writing, originality, and impact.

The Literary Titan Gold Book Award is presented to authors whose work exhibits exceptional craftsmanship and meaningful contribution to readers. The award follows Literary Titan's editorial review process and recognizes books that stand out for their quality, depth, and ability to engage and inspire audiences.

Love's Cauldron is a memoir of healing, transformation, and feminine reclamation. Blending personal narrative with psychological insight, spirituality, and the archetypal journey of the witch, Lehr chronicles her path through trauma, awakening, and self-discovery. The book explores themes of intuition, resilience, and the reclamation of the wild feminine.

"This recognition is deeply meaningful," said Lehr. "I am grateful to Literary Titan for this honor and to the readers who have connected with the book's message of healing, transformation, and self-reclamation."

Love's Cauldron: Reclaim Your Wild Feminine – Book 1: Deliverance has received multiple literary honors and has resonated with readers seeking a deeper connection to their authentic selves.

Jennifer J. Lehr, LMFT, is a licensed marriage and family therapist, author, and educator. Drawing on decades of clinical experience and personal transformation, she writes about healing, relationships, spirituality, and the reclaiming of feminine wisdom.
